Join Me This Week!

This month, I'm excited to announce that I'm the host of a new radio show and podcast on SiriusXM, Passport to Everywhere.

I've been an obsessive traveler for as long as I can remember and a professional traveler, so to speak, for the last 30 years. I founded Indagare because I wanted to create a dynamic travel resource, where we could publish great travel content, but we could also crowdsource discoveries with other passionate travelers—and by creating a community and sharing our finds and tips, we could all have better travel experiences. Passport to Everywhere presents another opportunity to further the mission of Indagare: to inspire and empower people to change their life through travel and have a positive impact on the places they visit.

Each week on the show, I will take you around the world with me. I'll introduce you to some of the most amazing people I meet while on the road—passionate travelers, thought leaders and innovators whose lives have been shaped by their explorations and whose travels have sometimes impacted yours. I'll also explore the future of travel and take you behind the scenes at some of Indagare's most beloved hotels and the world's most legendary—from the Ritz Paris to Blackberry Farm in the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee. Early guests will include Jane Poynter of Space Perspective, chef Massimo Bottura and Dr. Tonya Mathews, the CEO of the most anticipated museum opening in the U.S., the International African American Museum. Along the way, I'll share travel advice from my own experiences, as well as travel hacks and the latest trends.

My hope is that the show will both inspire and empower you to embrace the positive power of travel, help you as you venture out into the world—and also provide a source of inspiration to you while you're at home.

I'm excited to take you on the journey.
